DESIGNATIONS AND ROAD SIGNS

- Pedestrian and bicycle lane. One side of the lane is intended for cyclists only, whereas the other one is allotted solely for pedestrians
- Combined pedestrian and bicycle lane
- End of a pedestrian and bicycle lane
- Change of direction of the lane
- Information about the bicycle lane
- STOP
Stop and make sure it is safe. Dismount and push the bike at crossings
- Make sure everything is safe before you cross the driveway on a bike
- Bicycle lane
- Pedestrian lane
- Both cyclists and pedestrians may cross this line
- Neither cyclists, nor pedestrians may cross this line. Stay within your lane
- EURO VELO 10 and 13

RULES TO OBSERVE WHEN USING DEDICATED BICYCLE LANES

- * If you see a combined pedestrian / bicycle lane, use the part intended for cyclists – it can easily be discerned by a bicycle pictogram. In many locations, bicycle lanes are painted in red. Avoid riding along the pedestrian lane. If there are pedestrians walking along the bicycle lane, warn them of your approach in a friendly manner by ringing the bicycle bell.
- *Where there is a pedestrian crossing painted on the bicycle lane, pedestrians have the priority.
- *Where the bicycle lane crosses a driveway outside a junction, cyclists must yield right of way to vehicles travelling along the road being crossed.
- *If you see a STOP sign at the end of the bicycle lane in front of a drive, stop and make sure it is safe.
- *At locations where the bicycle lane crosses a driveway and cyclists have the priority, cyclists may only move along after they have considered the distance to an approaching vehicle and the speed at which it travels and made sure it is safe to go on.
- *Special caution must be exercised at locations where the bicycle lane crosses a railway line; dismount, make sure it is safe to cross and push the bicycle through the labyrinth at the crossing.
