2000. In 2000, an Ice Hall was built in the city of Ventspils, where one can practice short-track speed skating, figure skating, hockey, and curling on a daily basis. It also serves as a public ice rink.

In 2013, the Ice Hall underwent reconstructions, whereas the width of the ice area was increased from 29 m to 30 m to comply with the requirements for international short-track speed skating competitions.

The total area of the ice arena is 1970 m². It has stands for the accommodation of 942 spectators, and also changing rooms, which can be used by 240 persons at the same time.

The Ice Hall is a popular place for sports and leisure not only among the locals – it is a place where the future figure skaters and hockey players from other Latvian cities and even from Russia, Belarus, Lithuania, Sweden, and other countries train on a regular basis.
