“We have worked hard and want to see you again! During the time that the new album was being made, there have been several significant events and anniversaries in our lives. We plan to celebrate all the holidays with you, dear listeners! And, as you already know – there will be no shortage of surprises,” says Prāta Vētra.

As usual, at Prāta Vētra concerts you will be able to hear both recordings from the band’s latest album and songs beloved by the audience, to which everyone knows the words and always sings along.

The visual image of Brainstorm’s concert tour was created by world-famous Dutch photographer Anton Corbijn. The photo shoot took place last fall in Barcelona, where the band also created most of the songs for the upcoming album. “We gave ourselves a birthday present of reuniting with Anton. We wanted to capture the feeling, the mood of this moment and celebrate our friendship for more than 35 years. In two days, we visited all sorts of corners of Barcelona, laughed and captured shots for both the concert tour poster and the album cover,” Brainstorm continues. The tour poster was created by young designer Yuriy Lukijanishens.
